

Improving Maternity Services

Small is beautiful – lessons from a birth centre

Denis Walsh

RM, RGN, DPSM, PG DipEd, MA, PhD

Independent Midwifery Consultant

Senior Lecturer in Research

University of Central Lancashire

Foreword by Sheila Kitzinger

Radcliffe Publishing
Oxford • Seattle

Contents

Foreword	vi
Preface	vii
About the author	viii
Acknowledgements	ix
CHAPTER 1 The crisis in Western childbirth	1
Sandy's story	1
Global concern	3
References	4
CHAPTER 2 Introducing birth centres	6
The evidence	6
Style of care, beliefs and philosophy of birth	8
Size	9
Introducing a birth centre	10
Operational description	12
References	13
CHAPTER 3 Who owns the women? Setting up the research project	15
Why I chose to research a birth centre	16
Why I chose ethnography as research method	17
Why I chose a postmodernist theoretical position	18
What I expected to find when setting up the research	19
Being male and doing research in an all-female environment	21
Data collection and analysis	23
References	23
CHAPTER 4 Taking on the system and winning	25
Campaigning	25
Protecting a legacy	28
Factors driving closure	29
Challenging authoritative discourses	30
Conscientisation	32
References	34
CHAPTER 5 Transforming people and buildings	35
Vision and leadership	37
Towards a postmodern organisation	39

	Transforming buildings	40
	Make-overs the non-bureaucratic way	41
	From bureaucracy to second home	45
	Facilitating nesting	46
	Dissonance	49
	References	50
CHAPTER 6	Taking labour off the assembly line	52
	Fordism	54
	Taylorism	56
	'Being' rather than 'doing'	58
	Altered temporality	61
	Dissonance	62
	Hospitality as work	63
	References	66
CHAPTER 7	Building community and social capital	68
	Deregulated work patterns	68
	Family friendly	71
	Deconstructing the work/life split	72
	Supporting each other	74
	Dissonance	77
	Social capital	77
	References	82
CHAPTER 8	Childbirth beyond models	84
	Negative experience of consultant units	87
	Moving beyond medicalised birth and the discourse of safety	88
	Problematifying models	92
	Moving beyond medicalised birth: labour experience	94
	Moving beyond medicalised birth: labour physiology	98
	References	99
CHAPTER 9	Exploring matrescent care	102
	Dissonance	104
	Postnatal stay as 'special'	106
	References	110
CHAPTER 10	Small really is beautiful	111
	Birth centres as 'postmodern organisations'	111
	Reprising nesting	112
	Birth centre 'work'	114
	Birth centres, community and social capital	116
	Birth centre care as matrescent	118
	References	120